Choices in Crisis

Directions: Imagine you are traveling with the grandmother's family. The car has just crashed, and strangers appear on the road. You soon realize they may be dangerous. You face a moral dilemma: Should you try to reason with the strangers, attempt to escape, or stay silent and hope for mercy?

Write a short response (8-10 sentences) explaining what you would do and why. Use the guiding questions below to help structure your writing.

- What emotions would you feel in that moment?
- What choices would be available to you?
- Which choice would you make, and why?
- How does your decision connect to the themes of morality, fear, or faith in the story?
