Story Error Breakdown

Type of Mistake	What's Wrong? (Describe It)	How to Fix It
Character name change	The story introduces Liam as the brother, but then he suddenly becomes Lucas without explanation.	Keep the brother's name consistent throughout (e.g., change "Lucas" back to "Liam").
Time inconsistency	It starts at midnight , but a few sentences later it becomes lunchtime and then back to midnight again.	Keep the setting and time consistent — this is a nighttime story. Remove the "lunchtime" line.
Logical error or impossible event	The sandwich "floated gently in the air, waving goodbye."	Replace this with a realistic ending — maybe Emma eats the sandwich or realizes it was a dream.
Sequence confusion	Emma goes from being in the kitchen at night to running to catch the school bus seconds later.	Add transitions to show time passing (e.g., she wakes up in the morning after the strange night).
Grammar or word mix-up	None major, but "It's lunchtime" doesn't fit the established timeline.	Adjust dialogue to match the nighttime scene.
