Spotting Mismatched Roleplay

Sometimes AI writes in a voice that doesn't fit the topic-like a cowboy describing space travel or a wizard talking about fast food. This creates a mismatch that feels funny, strange, or confusing. Read each passage carefully, figure out which roleplay voice it's written in, and explain why it doesn't fit the content of the scene.

Passage 1- "System online. Commencing jousting protocol. Knight approaches on armored horse unit. Probability of lance impact: 72%. Shields holding. Awaiting data from medieval combat sensors."

What roleplay voice is this? _____

Why does it feel mismatched? _____

Passage 2 - "Yeehaw! Strap in, partner, 'cause this rocket's fixin' to lasso the stars! Dusty trails don't end here-they just keep ridin' straight through the Milky Way."

What roleplay voice is this? _____

Why does it feel mismatched? _____

Passage 3 - "By thunder and flame! This burrito oozeth forth with molten cheese and beans most mighty! A feast to honor in the halls of kings, though my hands be scorched in battle with its fiery sauces!"

What roleplay voice is this? _____

Why does it feel mismatched? _____

Passage 4 - "G-g-groan... brains... The stock market shifts... profits tumble... must invest... more... dividends! Hungry for gains... hungry for stocks..."
