TMI: Too Much Info? Answer Key

1. No - Your location can reveal where you are in real life. That's personal information.
2. No - Apps don't need access to all your photos to use filters. That's too much sharing.
3. No - Your full name and school are personal details that shouldn't be given to AI.
4. Maybe/No - Email and birth date can be used for ads or identity theft. Only share if it's a trusted site.
5. No - Your friend's name is someone else's private info. Don't share other people's data.
6. No - Recording all voice commands means the app could be listening all the time. Not safe.
7. Maybe - Uploading a selfie can be okay if you trust the app, but it can also be used or copied by others.
8. No - Tagging your location tells people exactly where you are. That's risky.
9. Maybe - Health data can be safe if it's for a trusted fitness app, but check privacy settings first.
10. No - Family and personal questions don't belong in a "fun" test. That's oversharing.
