

Name _____

Who's Peeking at My Data?

Every photo you post, every search you make, and every app you use leaves behind a tiny trail of information - a digital version of you. But not everyone needs to see every piece of that digital self.

Below is a list of different types of personal data. For each one, decide who should have access by marking one of the columns:

- Friends - people you know and trust in real life
- AI Apps - tools, games, or chatbots that use your data
- Teachers - adults who help you learn and keep you safe
- No One - this should stay completely private

Think carefully about what feels safe, what's useful, and what's simply too personal.

1. You post a photo of your face to test a new AI art app that turns selfies into cartoon characters.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

2. A homework chatbot asks for your full name and school to "personalize learning."

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

3. Your teacher asks for your school email to share class notes.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

4. A social media app wants to tag your location every time you post.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

5. You make a funny video with your friends at school and think about posting it publicly.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

6. A health-tracking app asks to record your voice to "coach you better."

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

7. You want to share your grades to celebrate a good report card.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

8. A website offers a free game if you type in your phone number.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____

9. You're making a playlist and the app asks to view your music library.

Who Should See This? _____ Why? _____