Directions: Think about a time when you acted differently at home, school, or work. Write a short essay explaining what happened, how you changed your behavior, and why that was the right choice for that setting. Use complete sentences and clear examples.

Writing Prompt: Describe a situation where you had to adjust your behavior to fit your environment. Maybe you spoke more formally at work than at home, stayed calm when others were frustrated, or used polite words with a teacher that you might not use with friends. In your response, explain:

- 1. What the situation was.
- 2. What behavior you changed.
- 3. Why the change was important.
- 4. What you learned from that experience.
