Teacher Guide

- This worksheet strengthens political geography skills and helps students become familiar with major African countries and their capitals.
- For grades 3 to 5, review the difference between a country and a capital before starting and model one example.
- For grades 6 to 8, challenge students to describe one fact they know about any of the countries or capitals after matching them.
- For grades 9 to 12, extend learning by discussing why capitals are sometimes located away from a country's largest city.
- Support students who need help by grouping capitals into regions such as East Africa or West Africa.
- For engagement, encourage students to draw a simple outline of Africa and place three pairs of countries and capitals on the map.
- For extension, have students research a country and write a brief summary of what makes its capital important for government, history, or culture.
