Weekend Whispers

Directions: Read the passage below carefully. Then answer the multiple-choice questions that follow. Choose the best answer for each question. Circle the letter of your answer.

Lena's friends were all away for the weekend, leaving her with a quiet house and plenty of time. On Saturday morning, she brewed tea and read her favorite mystery novel on the porch. The sunshine felt warm, and she enjoyed the silence between the chirps of sparrows. By evening, the house seemed much bigger, and her book no longer held her attention. She turned on the radio just to hear another voice. Looking out the window at the empty street, she realized she missed the noise and laughter that usually filled her days.
