

Name _____

Formulating Deep Questions

Read the passage: Long ago, a young girl named Amina lived in a village surrounded by dry plains. Every summer, water became hard to find, and her village struggled to grow food. One day, Amina had an idea—she would dig a small channel from the nearby river to bring water closer to the crops. She shared her plan with the village elders. At first, they laughed, saying it was too much work for a child. But Amina didn't give up. She worked every day after school, and soon, others began to help her. By the end of the season, they had built a working irrigation channel. The crops grew stronger, and the village had more food than ever before. Amina became known as the girl who brought water to the fields.

Formulate Your Questions

Write six questions based on the story. Try to include a mix of these types:

- Literal (factual, found directly in the text)
- Inferential (requires reasoning based on clues)
- Evaluative (asks for judgment, opinion, or reflection)

👉 Label each question as L, I, or E after you write it.

1. _____ (L / I / E)

2. _____ (L / I / E)

3. _____ (L / I / E)

4. _____ (L / I / E)

5. _____ (L / I / E)

6. _____ (L / I / E)