Teacher's Guide

- Have students read each word aloud slowly, listening for the clear consonant vowel consonant pattern.
- If a student is unsure, tell them to check whether the middle sound is a short vowel and whether the word is one they recognize.
- Provide magnetic letters or word tiles so learners can build and check real CVC words before marking.
- Extension ideas include sorting words into real and silly piles, creating silly non-words and swapping with classmates, or writing a sentence using three real CVC words from the worksheet.
