Teacher's Guide

- Help students read each row aloud so they can hear the matching ending sounds. Encourage them to tap or clap the rhyming parts.
- Provide picture support for emerging readers who may rely on initial sound cues.
- For students who need more scaffolding, offer only two choices at first, then increase to three-word rows.
- Extension ideas include having students sort rhyme families into groups, create their own rhyme rows, or illustrate pairs of rhyming CVC words to build vocabulary and phonological awareness.
