Sample Paragraph:

Mafatu's courage grows because each brave act leads to another. First, he dares to sail into the sea even though he is terrified. When a storm nearly kills him, he survives, which proves he is stronger than he thought. On the island, he makes his own tools and weapons, showing he can depend on himself. With these tools, he defeats a wild boar and even risks discovery by cannibals. These victories give him the strength to build a raft and face the sea again. Finally, he returns home as a hero who has proven his bravery step by step.
