Moral Dilemmas in the Chocolate Factory

Directions: Each golden ticket winner faced a test inside Willy Wonka's factory. Read the dilemmas below and imagine you were in their place. Write how you would act, and briefly explain why. Be honest and thoughtful. There are no "wrong" answers, but your reasoning matters.

1. Chocolate River Temptation: Augustus could not resist drinking from the chocolate river, even when told not to. If you were there, would you drink from the river or resist? Why?

2. The Forbidden Gum: Violet grabbed the experimental gum against Mr. Wonka's warning. If you were Violet, would you chew the gum or wait for something safer? Explain.

3. The Squirrel's Judgment: Veruca demanded a squirrel even though they belonged to Wonka. If you were her, would you ask politely, try to take one, or admire from afar? Why?

4. The Television Machine: Mike insisted on sending himself by television, even though it was risky. If you had the chance, would you step inside the machine or refuse? Why?

5. The Final Test: Charlie broke no rules, but later admitted to a small mistake (the Fizzy Lifting Drinks in some versions). If you had made a mistake, would you confess it to Wonka, keep it secret, or blame someone else? Why?
