Step 3 - Try It Yourself! Student's Attempt: Gentle morning breeze, Whispers softly through the trees, Waking up the world

Student Reflection: "It was hard to count syllables correctly, but Claude's step-by-step guide helped me stay organized."

(Teacher note: Look for evidence the student followed Claude's directions and made a genuine attempt at the skill.)

Step 4 - Ask for Feedback - Student Prompt to Claude:

"Here's my haiku: Gentle morning breeze / Whispers softly through the trees / Waking up the world. Can you give me feedback?"

Sample Claude Response: "That's a lovely haiku! It follows the 5-7-5 pattern perfectly and creates a calm image. You could make it even stronger by using a more specific detail-like a bird's call or the color of the sunrise."

Student Summary: Claude liked the imagery and pattern but suggested adding a more specific detail.
