Teacher's Guide

- Quick implementation: Review that startup costs are expenses paid to prepare a new business to operate. Have students add every listed expense for each startup.
- Differentiation: Allow students who need support to add two expenses at a time and record running totals.
- Engagement: Ask students to predict which startup will cost the most before calculating, then check their prediction.
- Extension: Have students choose one startup, add a new realistic expense, and calculate the revised startup cost.
