Modern Loman Lessons Answer Key

Quick Connection (Sample Answers):

Theme	Example from Death of a Salesman	Example from Today's World
The American Dream	Willy believes being "well liked" guarantees success.	People chase fame on social media, equating likes/followers with success.
Family Pressures	Biff feels forced to live Willy's dream instead of his own.	Teens pressured by parents to get into elite colleges or choose specific careers.

Reflection Questions (Sample Responses):

1. The American Dream today has shifted: while money and status still matter, many see success as freedom, happiness, or owning a home. For example, some young people prioritize travel or flexible jobs over traditional wealth.
2. Family pressures may cause more struggles now because they are personal and constant, while definitions of the American Dream vary and can be adapted by each person.
