Teacher's Guide

- Review rounding to friendly numbers before students begin.
- Encourage students to estimate mentally before looking closely at the choices.
- For extra support, let students write rounded factors beside each expression.
- For a challenge, ask students to explain why the two incorrect choices are unreasonable.
- Add engagement by having students earn one point for each correct choice and one bonus point for correctly stating their rounded factors.
- As an extension, have students calculate each exact product and compare it with the selected estimate.
