Lost & Found: Truth Detective Files

Mission: The detective office received a mixed-up batch of “truth statements” from the Lost & Found box. Your task? Organize them by whether they are Facts (can be proven true) or Opinions (what someone thinks or feels).

Instructions: Below are 14 mixed-up statements. Your mission is to write each statement into the correct box: either the FACT folder or the OPINION folder. Be careful, some opinions sound factual!

Mixed-Up Truth Statements

1. Apples contain natural sugars and fiber.
2. The best way to start your day is with a hot cup of tea.
3. There are 50 states in the United States.
4. Summer is the most exciting season of all.
5. Jupiter is the largest planet in our solar system.
6. Elephants are more interesting than any other animal.
7. Canada is located north of the United States.
8. The beach is more relaxing than the mountains.
9. Spiders have eight legs.
10. Soccer is more fun to play than basketball.
11. The Statue of Liberty was a gift from France.
12. Blue is the most calming color.
13. Most adult humans have 206 bones.
14. Reading is the best hobby a person can have.

Label the number of the statement that belongs in each folder.
