

Name _____

Few And Less Swap

Directions: Read the short story below. Some uses of few and less are mixed up. Rewrite the story, correcting each mistake you find.

Maya and her brother Liam went on a camping trip last weekend. They brought less apples for snacks and less bottles of water. When they arrived, they noticed there were less campers at the park than usual. That made it easier to find a quiet spot by the lake.

Liam gathered less sticks to build the fire, but Maya reminded him that they needed less marshmallows too. After dinner, they counted the stars. "There are less stars tonight," Maya said, but Liam laughed and pointed out that there were actually less clouds blocking them. Before bed, Maya wished she had few bug bites than last time.

[illegible]