Teacher Notes / Guide

- This exercise strengthens students' understanding of cause-and-effect connectors like because, since, so that.
- Multiple answers may be acceptable as long as they explain the reason (e.g., "because" vs. "since").
- Encourage students to read aloud their completed passage to check if the logic flows.
- Extension: Have students write a short paragraph about a time they were late and include at least two cause/reason connectors.
