The Two Contestants

Sofia stood at the edge of the stage, her hands steady and her smile (1) _____. She had practiced every day for weeks, determined to give the best performance she could. Her classmates admired how (2) _____ she was, never letting mistakes stop her.

Beside her stood Marco, tapping his foot nervously. He was often (3) _____ before competitions, worrying about forgetting his lines. Still, Marco was also very (4) _____, always cheering on his friends even when he felt unsure of himself.

When the contest ended, Sofia clapped for Marco's effort, and Marco returned the gesture. Their teacher reminded the class that being both talented and (5) _____ toward others was what made them true winners.
