Teacher's Guide

- How to use: Have students say each word aloud and listen for the ending sound. Remind them that rhyming words sound the same at the end.
- Differentiate: For support, read the row together and ask students to point to the two words that rhyme first. For challenge, ask students to explain why the odd word does not belong using sound words like at, og, or ake.
- Engagement: Turn it into a quick check. Say "Rhyme or break?" and have students tap the desk when they find the word to cross out.
- Extension: Ask students to rewrite each row by replacing the odd word with a new word that does rhyme, then read the new row aloud clearly.
