The Case of the Missing Context

AI is a bit like a GPS: if you don't give it enough details, it can't get you where you want to go. A bad prompt leaves out important info like the topic, audience, length, or format-and then the AI has to guess. Your job is to play detective: read each vague prompt, figure out what key details are missing, and then rewrite it so it's crystal clear. Think of it as filling in the blanks to make the AI's job easier (and your answers better).

Case 1 - Bad Prompt: "Write about sports."

What's Missing? _____

Your Improved Prompt:

Case 2 - Bad Prompt: "Explain technology."

What's Missing? _____

Your Improved Prompt:

Case 3 - Bad Prompt: "Make a presentation."

What's Missing? _____

Your Improved Prompt:

Case 4 - Bad Prompt: "Write about animals."

What's Missing? _____

Your Improved Prompt:

Case 5 - Bad Prompt: "Tell me how to do something."

What's Missing? _____

Your Improved Prompt: