Teacher's Guide:

- Differentiation Tips:
 - Read each sentence aloud and pause for students to give verbal answers before writing.
 - Provide a visual "feelings chart" to help students identify emotional effects like happy, sad, or frustrated.
- Engagement Ideas:
 - Turn the exercise into a role-play game where students act out both good and bad rule choices.
 - Let students work in pairs to come up with two different endings-one positive, one negative-for each sentence.
- Extension Activities:
 - Have students write their own cause-and-effect sentences based on real school experiences.
 - Create a classroom poster titled "What Happens When We Follow the Rules?" using examples from this activity.
