Directions: Read the paragraph carefully. Several sentences have incorrect uses of for and since. Underline each mistake, then rewrite the paragraph below it with the correct prepositions.

Detective Jamie has worked on mystery cases for 2019. She has solved over twenty tricky puzzles since five years. Her partner, Detective Alex, has helped her since a long time. They have chased clues in the old library since two days, and they haven't stopped thinking about the missing diamond for last Friday. Jamie has known the museum guard for ten years and believes he has been acting strangely for yesterday.
