Letters Across Time

Directions: Imagine you are Frederick Douglass, writing a letter across time to someone in today's world. Choose one audience: a modern student seeking motivation or a modern activist fighting for social justice.

Your letter must:

- Begin with a proper greeting (e.g., Dear Student, or Dear Activist,).
- Share a lesson from Douglass's own life (e.g., education, resistance, freedom, courage).
- Give advice or encouragement relevant to modern challenges.
- End with a closing and Douglass's signature.
- Be at least two full paragraphs (8-10 sentences total).
