Global Footprints

Directions: Reflect on the questions below and write thoughtful responses in complete sentences. Use real-life examples from your own experiences, community, or current events to support your ideas.

Part 1: Personal Perspective

1. How do you personally experience globalization in your daily life? (Think about the food you eat, music you listen to, or technology you use.)
2. What is one way technology has made your life more connected to the world?
3. Do you think globalization has made life better or more challenging for individuals your age? Explain your view.

Part 2: Community Connections

4. Describe one example of globalization that affects your community (such as international products, businesses, or cultural events).
5. How has global trade or technology changed the kinds of jobs or opportunities available in your community?
6. What challenges might globalization bring to your community (such as competition, cultural change, or environmental impact)?

Part 3: Global Awareness

7. In your opinion, what responsibilities do people have as global citizens in today's interconnected world?
8. How can communities balance embracing global ideas while still protecting local traditions and values?
9. If you could design one global policy to make the world fairer or more sustainable, what would it be-and why?
