Bot Rewrite Bureau

AI can write fast - but not always right. Below you'll see two chatbot responses to the same question or problem: Version A (the original AI answer) and Version B (the edited or "humanized" response).

For each pair: Read both carefully. Decide which version is more Helpful and explain why. Identify what was changed - facts, tone, or empathy.

Circle one: A. Helpful B. Helpful

Pair 1: The Late Assignment - Student's Question:

I didn't finish my essay before the deadline. What should I do?

Version A: You failed to manage your time. Please improve your scheduling protocols to prevent further errors.

Version B: That's stressful! It happens. Email your teacher, explain honestly, and ask if you can still submit with a small penalty.

Which is more Helpful? _____ Why? _____

What changed? _____

Pair 2: The Nervous Presenter - Student's Question:

I get really nervous before giving a speech. Any tips?

Version A: Anxiety is unnecessary. Just delete nervousness from your mental program.

Version B: Everyone gets nervous! Practice in front of a friend, take deep breaths, and remember that nerves can actually help you focus.

Which is more Helpful? _____ Why? _____

What changed? _____

Pair 3: The Friendship Fallout - Student's Question:

My best friend has been ignoring me all week. What should I do?

Version A: If a person stops communicating, they may have reached the end of your friendship contract. Begin a search for new companions.

Version B: That sounds hurtful. Try checking in with your friend calmly - maybe something's bothering them. Honest communication helps.
