Writing Clear, Smart Prompts

Asking the right question makes all the difference. If you ask Google Gemini something too short or vague, it might give you an answer that's too broad or not what you wanted. But if you ask a question that's clear, specific, and detailed, Gemini can give you a much more useful response.

Think of it like ordering at a restaurant. If you just say, "I want food," you might get anything! But if you say, "I'd like a cheeseburger with lettuce, tomato, and ketchup," you'll probably get exactly what you hoped for. Asking good questions is the same - and that's what you'll practice today.

Directions: Read the vague prompts in the first column.

1. Rewrite each one in the "Better Prompt" column so it's clearer, more detailed, and more helpful for Gemini to answer.
2. After rewriting, choose one prompt and actually try it out in Google Gemini. Record the answer you get and reflect on how your improved prompt made the response better.

Vague Prompt

Better Prompt (Rewrite to Be Clear and Specific)

1 Tell me about animals.

2 Explain space.

3 Help me with math.

4 Tell me about history.

5 What is science?

6 How do I write a story?

7 What is art?

Try It Out! - Pick your favorite improved prompt and type it into Google Gemini. Write down what Gemini said (or summarize it):

Name _____

Reflection:

1. What made your "better prompt" more helpful than the vague one?

2. How did Gemini's answer change when you asked it more clearly?

3. Why do you think being specific matters when asking questions - not just with AI, but in life?
