Style Transfer Mini-Task

Large Language Models (LLMs) don't just predict words - they also change the style of writing based on instructions. The same idea can be written like a poem, a news article, or even a text message.

In this activity, you'll practice rewriting sentences in different styles to see how meaning stays the same, but style changes.

Directions - Read each basic sentence. Rewrite it in the styles shown. Be creative! After you finish, compare your answers with the sample ideas.

Example - Basic sentence: I am happy that I am going to the park.

Poet: My heart leaps with joy as I wander to the green park.

News reporter: A local resident expressed excitement today about going to the park.

Text message: So happy rn! Going 2 the park 😊

1. Basic: The sun is shining today.

Poet: _____

News reporter: _____

Text message: _____

2. Basic: I forgot to bring my homework.

Comedian: _____

Teacher's note: _____

Apology text: _____

3. Basic: We are eating pizza for dinner.

Chef: _____

Excited kid: _____

Diary entry: _____

4. Basic: She scored the winning goal.

Sports announcer: _____

Friend telling the story: _____

Poet: _____