Teacher's Guide

- Differentiation Tips:
  - Read the passage aloud for auditory learners or ELL students and discuss vocabulary such as equality, justice, and rights.
  - Provide sentence starters ("Malala fought for...") for emerging writers.
  - Challenge advanced students to research another youth activist and compare their story.
- Engagement Ideas:
  - Begin with a class discussion: "What is one thing you'd change to make your community fairer?"
  - Have students act out one of the examples as a short skit to bring the story to life.
- Extension Activities:
  - Create a classroom "Wall of Young Changemakers" featuring real-life student activists from around the world.
  - Encourage students to write a short paragraph titled "My Voice for Change," explaining how they can stand up for fairness in their daily lives.
