Teacher's Guide

- Differentiation Tips:
  - For younger readers, review each right's meaning before starting and use context clues to help them match.
  - For advanced students, remove the word bank and have them write their own definitions of each right.
- Engagement Ideas:
  - Begin with a class discussion about what "rights" mean to them personally.
  - Have students locate one of the countries mentioned on a world map to connect geography with global awareness.
- Extension Activities:
  - Invite students to research one right in their own country and how it's protected or challenged.
  - Encourage a creative follow-up: design a poster showing one human right in action across the world.
