Name _____

Champions of Change

Directions: Choose one of the following leaders: Nelson Mandela, Malala Yousafzai, or Eleanor Roosevelt. Read or research about their life and accomplishments. Then, write a short summary (one strong paragraph) explaining what they did to advance human rights and why their actions still matter today. Use complete sentences and powerful vocabulary to show understanding.

Every generation has heroes who stand up for justice, equality, and peace. Some fight with words, others with actions, and all inspire hope in others. Think about how your chosen leader helped protect human rights for people in their country and across the world. Write your summary below.
