Teacher's Guide

- Skill Focus: Students practice choosing between I (subject) and me (object) to build strong grammar awareness.
- Differentiation Tips:
 - For extra support, remind students that I usually comes before the verb, while me usually comes after it.
 - For advanced learners, have them write their own "silly" sentences for classmates to fix.
- Engagement Idea:
 - Turn it into a "Pronoun Patrol" game where students earn points for each sentence they fix correctly and explain why.
- Extension Activity:
 - Have students write a short paragraph about their weekend using at least five pronouns correctly, then swap papers with a partner for review.
