

Name _____

Think And Ask

Directions: Read the passage and create three types of questions on it:

- Literal Question: asks for facts directly stated in the text.
- Inferential Question: asks you to read between the lines to figure out something not directly stated.
- Evaluative Question: asks for your judgment or opinion about the topic, supported with reasoning.

The Great Wall of China

The Great Wall of China is one of the most famous structures in the world. Built over many centuries, it stretches more than 13,000 miles across northern China. The wall was originally constructed to protect Chinese states and empires from invasions. It also served as a way to control trade and immigration along the Silk Road. Made from stone, brick, tamped earth, and wood, the wall reflects the skill and determination of ancient builders. Today, it is a UNESCO World Heritage

Site and a popular tourist destination. Millions of people visit each year to walk along its sections and learn about its history. The wall stands not only as a military defense but also as a symbol of China's strength and culture.

Literal Question (fact-based):

Inferential Question (reading between the lines):

Evaluative Question (judgment/opinion-based):