Voices Of Work

Directions: Read the prompt about a modern labor issue. Then, choose a side: for or against, and prepare your argument with strong reasoning, real-world examples, and persuasive language. Be ready to share or write a short persuasive paragraph summarizing your viewpoint.

Debate Prompt: Many countries are experimenting with a four-day workweek, where employees work fewer days but maintain the same pay. Supporters believe it improves productivity and mental health, while critics argue it could harm businesses or reduce efficiency.

Your Task:

1. Choose your stance: Are you for or against the four-day workweek?
2. Write three clear reasons to support your position.
3. Include at least one example from current events, your community, or personal experience.
4. End with a strong closing statement that summarizes why your side makes the most sense.

Reflection Question:

How does this debate connect to the meaning of Labor Day and the ongoing fight for fairness in the workplace? Write 3-4 thoughtful sentences to explain.
