The Lost Backpack

After school, three friends, Lena, Jordan, and Marco, gathered near the playground. Lena looked worried. "I can't find my backpack anywhere," she said. Jordan glanced around and pointed toward the swings. "Maybe you left it over there." Marco shook his head. "No, I saw Lena carrying it after recess." The group searched together, checking under the benches and near the slide. Finally, Jordan spotted the backpack beside the basketball court. Lena sighed with relief. "Thank goodness! I thought I'd lost all my homework." Marco grinned. "At least now we can go home without searching any longer."
