Passage A: After the big storm, many houses in the neighborhood lost power. Neighbors came together to share food, candles, and blankets. Mr. Thompson used his grill to cook meals for everyone, and Mrs. Lee passed out hot chocolate. Though the storm caused damage, the families realized they were stronger when they worked as a community.

Passage B: The town library had been closed for weeks due to renovations. When it finally reopened, children rushed in to see the new shelves and colorful murals on the walls. The librarian smiled as she showed off the updated reading corner filled with beanbags and bright lamps. Families checked out stacks of books, happy to have their library back. It quickly became the busiest spot in town again.

Passage C: Jonah had always dreamed of climbing the tallest hill near his town. One Saturday, he filled his backpack with water, snacks, and a camera. The path was steep, and the sun beat down on him, but he kept moving. When he reached the top, he gasped at the view of the valley below. Snapping a photo, Jonah felt proud of what he had accomplished.

Passage D: Maya practiced her lines every night for the school play. She even rehearsed in front of the mirror, pretending to bow at the end. On the day of the performance, she felt her stomach twist with nerves. But when the spotlight hit her, she remembered every word. The applause at the end made her realize all her hard work had been worth it.
