- Encourage students to explain how each word relates to the tensions between free and slave states.

Differentiation

- Provide a word bank with images (e.g., map of the U.S. with the 36°30' line) for visual learners.
- Read terms and definitions aloud for emerging readers or English learners.
- Challenge advanced learners to write their own sentence using each vocabulary word accurately.

Engagement Ideas

- Create a "human vocabulary match" where students hold term cards and find their matching definition partner.
- Use whiteboards for quick check-in responses.

Extension Activities

- Students draw a simple map labeling free states, slave states, and the 36°30' line after the Compromise.
- Have students write a short paragraph explaining why vocabulary helps us understand history clearly.
