Story Ender

Directions: Read the beginning of the story. Think about what could happen next. Write your own ending that makes sense, has clear order, and finishes the story.

Lila and her little brother Evan found a shiny blue box in the grass behind their school. When Lila opened it, a small puff of silver dust floated out. Inside the box was a tiny map with a bright star drawn in the corner. The map showed a path that seemed to lead behind the big oak tree near the playground. Lila looked at Evan and whispered, "Should we follow it?"
