Sunrise Speed Read

Directions: Read each paragraph aloud while using a timer. Record how many seconds it takes to read the passage the first time. Read the same paragraph again, trying to improve your speed while keeping accuracy.

Track your progress in the chart after each reading. After finishing, answer the quick follow-up questions about the paragraph.

Lena woke up early to see the sunrise. She hurried to the window and watched the sky change colors, from pale pink to deep orange. Birds sang loudly, as if they were greeting the day. She quickly grabbed her sketchbook to capture the moment before it disappeared. Drawing the rising sun made her feel calm and happy inside.
