Teacher's Guide

- Remind students that ph makes the same sound as f, so they should look for the letters p and h together while reading each row.
- Encourage students to whisper-read each word, which supports decoding and strengthens the connection between letters and sounds.
- For differentiation, reduce the number of distractor words or highlight the ph words in a word bank first. Advanced students can create two of their own rows.
- For extension, invite students to sort the ph words they circled into categories such as animals, objects, or actions to build vocabulary and semantic understanding.
