Teacher's Guide

- Quick implementation tips
 - o Review the rounding rule before students begin.
 - o Encourage students to round first, then compare the answer choices.
 - o Have students explain why the other choices are not the best estimate.
- Differentiation strategies
 - o Provide a number line or place value chart for students who need support.
 - o Ask advanced students to find the exact answer after choosing the estimate.
 - o Pair students to discuss their reasoning before checking answers.
- Engagement ideas
 - o Turn each question into a class vote before revealing the answer.
 - o Let students justify their choices with a partner using math vocabulary.
- Extension activities
 - o Have students write a new multiple-choice estimation problem.
 - o Challenge students to create three incorrect answer choices that are believable but incorrect.
