

Quote Vs. Summary

Directions: Read the passage below carefully. After the passage, you will find several statements taken from it. Some are direct quotes (exact words spoken or written by a person = Primary Source) and others are summaries (a retelling or explanation of what someone said or did = Secondary Source). Label each as P for Primary or S for Secondary.

During her research on environmental activism, Natalie read about Jane Goodall's lifelong work with chimpanzees and conservation. In one interview, Goodall stated, "Every individual matters. Every individual has a role to play. Every individual makes a difference." This quote inspired Natalie to think about how one person can spark large-scale change.

Natalie also found a documentary that explained how Goodall started observing chimpanzees in Tanzania and how her discoveries reshaped scientific understanding of animal behavior. The narrator summarized her early struggles and later achievements. To add another layer, Natalie read a science magazine article that reviewed Goodall's influence on wildlife conservation efforts around the world. The article highlighted her ability to inspire others through speeches, books, and activism. Finally, Natalie explored a transcript of a speech Goodall delivered at the United Nations, where she urged world leaders to take immediate action to protect the environment.

1. "Every individual matters. Every individual has a role to play. Every individual makes a difference." → _____
2. The narrator explained that Goodall's observations in Tanzania reshaped how scientists understood animal behavior. → _____
3. A magazine article described Goodall's influence on global conservation efforts. → _____
4. In her UN speech, Goodall urged leaders to take immediate action to protect the environment. → _____
5. The documentary summarized Goodall's struggles and achievements. → _____