Teacher's Guide

- Preview r-blends with students and have them practice saying each blend before reading the story.
- Allow students to read the mini-story twice, once for decoding and once for comprehension.
- Provide highlighters or colored pencils so students can mark r-blend words directly in the passage.
- Support developing readers by reading the story aloud first and echo-reading together.
- Challenge advanced students to write a short extension sentence using two new r-blend words not found in the story.
