Teacher's Guide

- Review the meaning of real word versus nonsense word before students begin.
- Encourage students to say each blend out loud with the ending to decide which sounds right.
- Provide picture references for struggling readers so they can connect the words to visual cues.
- For added support, model the first one as a whole group before students work independently.
- Challenge advanced students by letting them create two of their own ending-plus-blend choices for classmates to solve.
