Teacher's Guide

- Encourage students to say the blend sound before writing it. This helps them connect the oral blend to the written form.
- Offer picture cards or magnetic letters for students who benefit from hands-on manipulation of sounds and blends.
- For students who need more support, reduce the list to five items and read each clue aloud together.
- For an extension activity, let students draw their own picture clues and write new r-blend words for classmates to solve.
