

Lessons In The Sky Answer Key

1. Lesson Arjun Learns: Winning is not the most important part of the festival.
Sharing joy and friendship matters more.
2. Turning Point: When the younger girl offers her kite and Arjun accepts, realizing he can still have fun without competing.
3. Application: Readers can remember to value experiences and kindness over competition, whether in sports, school, or everyday life.
4. Best Moral Match: B. Sharing joy with others is more important than winning.
Text evidence: Arjun laughs with the girl and realizes "the festival wasn't about winning, it was about enjoying the day together."

Teacher Notes:

- Highlight how plot events lead to lessons characters learn.
- Remind students that not every story states its moral directly—readers infer from character growth.
- Encourage open-ended discussion, but stress the importance of using text evidence to justify answers.
