Teacher's Guide

- Begin by reviewing common S-blends: sl, sm, sn, sp, st, sk, sw, sc. Have students practice reading each blend aloud.
- Encourage students to read the mini-story once for meaning and a second time just to scan for blends.
- Support developing readers by modeling how to underline only the beginning of the word, focusing on the blend.
- For extra practice, invite students to create their own one or two sentence mini-story using at least three S-blend words, or to sort the blends found in the story into categories.
