

Name _____

Emotions In Color

Directions: Read the mini-script below. Each emotion in the script is connected to a color cue.

- Blue = calm or thoughtful
- Red = angry or frustrated
- Yellow = cheerful or excited
- Green = nervous or uncertain

As you read aloud, highlight each line in its corresponding color and perform the dialogue with the matching tone, pacing, and expression. Focus on using your voice to show emotional shifts smoothly.

Mini Script: "The Group Project"

Characters:

Lena (Yellow) - upbeat and optimistic

Jonah (Red) - frustrated and impatient

Mila (Green) - anxious about presenting

Mr. Grant (Blue) - calm and encouraging teacher

(Scene: A classroom after school. Three students sit around a table, surrounded by poster paper and glue sticks.)

Lena (Yellow): Okay, team! We just need one more slogan for the science fair board, and we're done!

Jonah (Red): (sighs) Easy for you to say—you're not the one redoing the entire diagram because the marker bled through!

Mila (Green): (quietly) I just... I don't know if I can even present tomorrow. I freeze up every time people look at me.

Lena (Yellow): You'll do great, Mila! I can help you practice tonight.

Mr. Grant (Blue): (walking in) I can tell you've all been working hard. Remember, the best presentations come from teamwork and trust.

Jonah (Red): (grumbles) Yeah, trust the marker to ruin my life.

Lena (Yellow): (laughing) Maybe it just wanted to be part of the project too!

Mila (Green): (smiling a little) Thanks, guys. Maybe tomorrow won't be so scary after all.

Mr. Grant (Blue): (nodding) That's the spirit. Science and confidence both come from experimenting—and learning along the way.